Wiley, D. Sylvester, H. Huntley and the two Reed brothers. We are proud of our boys and glad that several of the prizes were carried away by Granger.

At the last meeting of the directors of the Y. M. C. A. it was decided to join with the school board in fitting up the basement under the proposed addition to the high school building. This will not only give the boys a place to meet, but it will fill a long felt want in the town. While the canvassers met with a ready response to raise the needed funds, yet quite a little more is needed to finish the job and all our citizens are requested to give a helping hand.

Eastman and our former townsman Lowry of Cleveland are expected. There will be music by the quartet and Y. M. C. A. orchestra. A special invitation to all the men and boys of the proper age.

The destruction of several Zeppelins has in some way decided Fred Ganyard not to invest in an airplane at present. Instead he purchased a Reo. We understand he is going to practice running the same while the roads are not in use by other machines on account of mud, and also after night. This is laudable as it does not endanger the safety of our citizens.

Lodi

Attorney O. C. Billman and family of Cleveland made a short call upon friends here Sunday.

Miss Freda Gault is away on a ten day vacation.

Inquiries are still pouring in for renting houses.

No encouragement is held out by attending physicians as to the recovery of Mrs. John Dunning. Her condition remains about the same.

Lodi is certainly up-to-date, as we had on last Wednesday a regular labor strike here. All the laborers at work on the sewer struck because their pay checks were not right. This being the second offense, the Italians would not stand for it.

Nine young ladies and gentlemen have finished their high school course and were graduated on June 4, and 5. Relatives and friends of the class filled to overflowing the M. E. church to listen to their productions, also the very interesting and instructive class address. Some of the arrangements and productions were quite novel, showed much thought and ability and were a radical departure from former customs.

Two rather tough looking customers were taken into custody last Saturday night by Marshals Witherstone and Kinney and placed in our city jail for safe keeping. Revolvers and flash lights were found on them and they had every appearance of regular cracksmen. Their hearing was to be had on Monday morning, but before that was to occur some help had been secured by them on the outside and they had vanished, leaving two bicycles hidden in the lumber, which in their hurry they forgot to take with them. Lodi undoubtedly escaped another burglary.

MINNELLI BROS. SHOW.

That the Minnelli Bros. Show has become a permanent institution there can be no doubt. For 14 years the Minnelli Bros. and their clean, clever show, all new, has been a yearly visitor to Medina. Each year there is an improvement, a little more money is spent and the show enlarges and each year the business is a little larger. The public has shown a very gracious appreciation of their efforts to please. The Minnelli Bros. have a great show this season. All new from center pole to side wall. They have the best money can produce. The best plays, the best singers, dancers, actors, scenery and outfit they ever presented to the public, and as long as their efforts please the improvement will continue. In other words, the Minnelli Bros. won't quit until the public does. The attraction opens a week's engagement on the Primary school grounds, commencing Monday June 14th. A performance rain or shine.

WATCH FOR "ANNUAL"

The "Crimson and Gray" (annual) which is published each year by the Junior class, promises to be a record breaker.

This year's publication contains some very excellent cartoons by Miss Florence Leach, five pages of snapshots that are interesting, and the baby pictures of nearly all of the seniors, also a picture of the class of 1927 (Kindergarten), four pages of Alumni, and the classes and departments of the high school.

The annuals will be on sale Friday and all of the next week at Wright's Book Store.
